

ABSTRACT

A caller information providing system and caller information transmitting method in a mobile radio communication network is disclosed. When a call comes in, the present invention provides 5 a user at the terminating mobile station a picture information of a caller or caller information including a picture information, audio information, and/or character information of the caller.